ANNUAL INDEX
Volume 35—1982

Bonney, Warren: Book review of A primer for group psychotherapy by Ray Naar. Summer, p. 83.

Clayton, Lynette: The use of the cultural atom to record personality change in individual psychotherapy. Fall, p. 111.

Dodson, Laura Sue: Intertwining Jungian depth psychology and family therapy through use of action techniques. Winter, p. 155.

Goldman, Elaine Eller, Delcy Schram Morrison, & Thomas G. Schramski: Co-directing Rx: A method for psychodramatist training. Summer, p. 65.

Guldner, Claude A.: Multiple family psychodramatic therapy. Summer, p. 47.

Guldner, Claude A.: Structuring and staging: A comparison of Minuchin's structural family therapy and Moreno's psychodramatic therapy. Winter, p. 141.

Guldner, Claude A., & Patricia A. Tummon: A brief history of the family therapy movement. Winter, p. 135.

Kelly, Gerard R.: Theoretical applications of symbolic interactionism and psychodrama. Spring, p. 39.

Kipper, David A.: Behavior simulation: A model for the study of the simulation aspect of psychodrama. Spring, p. 1.

Kipper, David A., Dov Har-Even, Michal Rotenberg, & Michal Dagan: Involvement in role playing as a function of the simulation procedure and levels of imagination. Fall, p. 99.

Kranz, Peter L., Nick L. Lund, Thelma Pruett, & Frank Stanley: The use of psychodrama with gifted children. Fall, p. 88.

Lewis, Thomas: Group therapy techniques in Shamanistic medicine. Spring, p. 24.

Lisk, Gary L.: Psychodramatic crisis intervention to treat a psychophysiological hysterical reaction. Spring, p. 18.

Moreno, Zerka T.: Book review of Conducting clinical sociometric explorations: A manual for psychodramatists and sociometrists by Ann E. Hale. Fall, p. 130.

Seeman, Howard: A methodology for existential psychotherapy. Summer, p. 70.

Shaffer, Carolyn S., Lawrence I. Sank, Joan Shapiro, & Donna Coghlan Donovan: Cognitive behavior therapy follow-up: Maintenance of treatment effects at six months. Summer, p. 57.

Stein, Marsha B., & Monica Leonie Callahan: The use of psychodrama in individual psychotherapy. Fall, p. 118.

Treadwell, Thomas W., & V. K. Kumar: Psychodrama and sociometry training: A survey of curriculums. Spring, p. 31.

Williamson, Donald S., & Paul E. Malone: Systems-oriented, small-group, family-of-origin family therapy: A comparison with traditional group psychotherapy. Winter, p. 165.

ANNUAL INDEX
Volume 35—1982

Bonney, Warren: Book review of A primer for group psychotherapy by Ray Naar. Summer, p. 83.

Clayton, Lynette: The use of the cultural atom to record personality change in individual psychotherapy. Fall, p. 111.

Dodson, Laura Sue: Intertwining Jungian depth psychology and family therapy through use of action techniques. Winter, p. 155.

Goldman, Elaine Eller, Delcy Schram Morrison, & Thomas G. Schramski: Co-directing Rx: A method for psychodramatist training. Summer, p. 65.

Guldner, Claude A.: Multiple family psychodramatic therapy. Summer, p. 47.

Guldner, Claude A.: Structuring and staging: A comparison of Minuchin's structural family therapy and Moreno's psychodramatic therapy. Winter, p. 141.

Guldner, Claude A., & Patricia A. Tummon: A brief history of the family therapy movement. Winter, p. 135.

Kelly, Gerard R.: Theoretical applications of symbolic interactionism and psychodrama. Spring, p. 39.

Kipper, David A.: Behavior simulation: A model for the study of the simulation aspect of psychodrama. Spring, p. 1.

Kipper, David A., Dov Har-Even, Michal Rotenberg, & Michal Dagan: Involvement in role playing as a function of the simulation procedure and levels of imagination. Fall, p. 99.

Kranz, Peter L., Nick L. Lund, Thelma Pruett, & Frank Stanley: The use of psychodrama with gifted children. Fall, p. 88.

Lewis, Thomas: Group therapy techniques in Shamanistic medicine. Spring, p. 24.

Lisk, Gary L.: Psychodramatic crisis intervention to treat a psychophysiological hysterical reaction. Spring, p. 18.

Moreno, Zerka T.: Book review of Conducting clinical sociometric explorations: A manual for psychodramatists and sociometrists by Ann E. Hale. Fall, p. 130.

Seeman, Howard: A methodology for existential psychotherapy. Summer, p. 70.

Shaffer, Carolyn S., Lawrence I. Sank, Joan Shapiro, & Donna Coghlan Donovan: Cognitive behavior therapy follow-up: Maintenance of treatment effects at six months. Summer, p. 57.

Stein, Marsha B., & Monica Leonie Callahan: The use of psychodrama in individual psychotherapy. Fall, p. 118.

Treadwell, Thomas W., & V. K. Kumar: Psychodrama and sociometry training: A survey of curriculums. Spring, p. 31.

Williamson, Donald S., & Paul E. Malone: Systems-oriented, small-group, family-of-origin family therapy: A comparison with traditional group psychotherapy. Winter, p. 165.